Labor Studies at Hofstra University

Why Study Labor Studies?

The world of work is rapidly changing, as are modern relationships among workers, between workers and labor unions, and between labor and management. Labor Studies is an interdisciplinary program designed to offer students up-to-date understanding of today's workplace in an international context. The valuable skills acquired will prove useful in careers in labor unions, government, labor law, education, and human resource management.

The Hofstra Certificate in Labor Studies is a special offering designed for adults who are not presently enrolled as full-time degree-seeking Hofstra undergraduates, but who instead wish only to take 1 or 2 courses per semester in a focused program of study. The Certificate is granted upon the successful completion of only six courses. Students choose one course in each of the following subject areas: Labor History; Collective Bargaining; Labor and Employment Law; Political Economy; Communication and Research; and Interdisciplinary Electives. Up to 3 comparable courses in Labor Studies taken at other accredited institutions may be counted toward the 6-course Hofstra Certificate, upon evaluation by Hofstra. And for those who have already completed a labor studies certificate elsewhere, we also offer an Advanced Certificate in Labor Studies.
