Q: Do you work with the Attorney General on setting that agenda?

PS: [illegible]

Q: And I noticed that the Labor Bureau is in the division of State Counsel rather than the division of the Public Advocacy; is that because of the work with the agencies that you do?

PS: [illegible]

Q: There's no effect of that.

Q: So I can imagine it might be also hard in pursuing back wages, to some extent. It seemed like you were successful in getting settlements at first. And that's one thing having worked at the NLRB, I know it can be tough sometimes, when there's a family structure, to work out a settlement. Was that a problem at all?
