

Hofstra University
Student Government Association
In the Year Two Thousand Twelve

Acknowledging the efforts of the Academic Integrity Task Force in identifying the trends of academic dishonesty at Hofstra University;

Recognizing the Task Force's Report on Academic Integrity Student/Faculty Survey with Recommendations;

Examining the results, in which 13-36% of students admitted to having performed various acts of dishonesty at least once;

Noting further that peer pressure is often the most effective tool in encouraging changes in student behavior;

Strongly endorses
